Media Opportunities

Kansas State players and coaches are made available to the media after games and at the regularly scheduled Tuesday press conference throughout the season. Coach Snyder is also available on Sundays at 10 a.m. at the Vanier Football Complex, Mondays on the Big 12 Teleconference from 10:30-10:40 a.m. and to out-of-town media via telephone on Wednesday nights from 7-7:30 p.m. Each Tuesday press conference begins at 12:30 p.m. with lunch. Snyder addresses the media at 1 p.m., with selected players available from 1:30-2:15 p.m. To request players for the weekly press conference, media should contact Garry Bowman by noon each preceding Monday at 785.532.6735 or via e-mail at gbowman@ksu.edu.

World Wide Web

Kansas State's web site, www.k-statesports.com, provides the latest information on the Wildcats. All K-State releases, results, statistics, box scores, schedules, rosters and coach and player information is available on the Internet at www.k-statesports.com. Recaps and statistics are updated after each game.

Weekly Release

The K-State Sports Information Office e-mails its weekly football release on Sunday evenings. Fax versions of the update are sent by request only. The release is also available on the Internet at www.k-statesports.com in both text and PDF formats on Sundays. If you are interested in receiving K-State's weekly release via e-mail, please contact Sports Information Director Garry Bowman at gbowman@k-state.edu to be placed on the list.

Wildcats continue homestand with Nebraska

Kansas State continues its three-game homestand at 1:10 p.m. Saturday, when the Wildcats welcome Big 12 North Division rival Nebraska to KSU Stadium. Despite the contest being a sellout, there is no live television scheduled for the game. That snaps an 11-year run of televised matchups between the two programs and marks the first time since the 1992 meeting in Tokyo, Japan, that the K-State/Nebraska game will not be telecast.

Coming off three hard-fought conference losses that averaged just over eight points per game, including a 31-21 setback vs. No. 2-ranked Oklahoma last week, Saturday's game is crucial for Kansas State (2-4, 0-3 Big 12). With just two victories under its belt this season, K-State must win no fewer than four of its final six games in to extend its current 11-year bowl streak.

Nebraska (4-2, 2-1 Big 12), currently tied with Missouri atop the Big 12's North Division, will be out to record back-to-back victories for just the second time this season. The Huskers rebounded nicely from their 70-10 loss at Texas Tech to post a 59-27 victory over Baylor last week behind a school-record 342 yards passing by sophomore Joe Dailey for their second league win.

Saturday is Harley Day

Don't forget to bring your ear plugs Saturday, especially if you are planning on being anywhere near the sidelines during pre-game, as Kansas State hosts its annual Harley Day. Just prior to kickoff, 100 Harley-Davidson motorcycles will make a thunderous one-lap trek around the black top of Wagner Field. One of the most unique traditions in all of college athletics, Harley Day was founded in 1997 and has become one of the most anticipated happenings of the year at K-State. For those wondering, the Wildcats are 5-2 all time on Harley Day.

No cameras, please

Not being on television this week is just fine with Kansas State. So far this season, the Wildcats have appeared on the tube three times and lost all three games. Dating to the start of last season, K-State is a combined 4-7 in televised games, with four straight losses. During that same stretch, however, the Cats are sparkling 9-1 with the cameras off, including 2-1 this season.

K-State fans remaining loyal to Cats

Widely regarded as some of the best fans in the country, Kansas State's purple wave continues to provide the Wildcats with great support. On the heels of cramming KSU Stadium with its third-largest crowd ever vs. Oklahoma (52,310) and with the Nebraska game listed as a sellout, Kansas State just may post its largest consecutive two-game attendance total in school history this weekend. K-State's previous best two-game total came last year when back-to-back sellouts against Kansas (51,614) and Colorado (51,534) netted 103,148 fans. A crowd of 50,839 or more Saturday vs. Nebraska will push Kansas State past that total.

Series with Huskers taking on a different shade

Nebraska may lead the all-time series with Kansas State by a wide 74-14-2 margin, however the matchup has taken on a decidedly purple hue in recent years. K-State enters Saturday's meeting riding a two-game winning streak over the Huskers, marking the first time since the 1958 and 1959 seasons that the Wildcats have taken back-to-back games from Nebraska. In fact, K-State has won three of the last four and four of the last six games between the two teams, including three straight at KSU Stadium. A victory over Nebraska Saturday would give K-State its first ever three-game winning streak against the Huskers and mark the first time in the series that the Cats have won four in a row at home. Nebraska has not won in the Little Apple since 1996. Of course, the Huskers hold the granddaddy of all streaks in the series, winning 29 straight between 1969 and 1997.

Polls minus both Cats, Huskers

For the first time since the Lyndon Johnson administration, both Kansas State and Nebraska will square off as unranked opponents as neither the Wildcats nor Huskers are ranked in either major poll this week. Not since Kansas State's 12-0 victory in 1968 have both teams entered the annual rivalry without a national ranking. Since the 1968 game, Nebraska has been the lone team ranked 26 times, while K-State has carried the banner once (2002). The two teams have both been ranked in the top 25 eight times since 1968, including seven straight games from 1994 to 2000.

Early Meeting

The Big 12 schedule-makers have traditionally made the Kansas State/Nebraska game a late-season affair. Since the league's formation prior to the 1996 season, the Wildcats and Cornhuskers have played in November in six of eight seasons, including each of the last six. Saturday's game will be the first October meeting between K-State and NU since the two teams played on Oct. 4, 1997. K-State and NU have never faced each other on Oct. 23.

Nebraska Wildcats

Four current Wildcats, all of them freshmen, call the Cornhusker State home. Quarterback Allan Evridge was a standout prep quarterback at Papillon-LaVista High School just outside of Omaha, while running back John McCardle and offensive lineman Brad Rooker were teammates at Omaha's Millard North. Wide receiver Jake Brestel, a graduate of Lincoln High, is the fourth member of the quartet.

Last year in Lincoln

Ell Roberson passed for 313 yards and two touchdowns that broke open the game in the fourth quarter as Kansas State cruised to a 38-9 win over No. 18 Nebraska in Lincoln on Nov. 15, 2003. It was the Wildcats' first victory in Lincoln since 1968 and Nebraska's worst at home since a 31-0 setback against Missouri on Nov. 1, 1958. Roberson also rushed 22 times for 90 yards and a score, while Darren Sproles added 140 yards and a touchdown on 25 carries as the Wildcats amassed 561 yards of total offense. K-State scored twice in the third quarter to break a 7-7 halftime tie before piling up 21 fourth-quarter points, including touchdown passes of 63 and 37 yards from Roberson to James Terry.

Changing of the guard

Of Kansas State's 22 starters who were in the opening lineup in last year's game in Lincoln, just seven (4 offense/3 defense) are listed as starters on the Wildcats' current depth chart for Saturday's contest. The most notable difference is in Kansas State's front seven, where senior defensive tackle Jermaine Berry is the lone player who started last year at Memorial Stadium.

Cats running out of lives

They say that cats have nine lives. However, in an 11-game college football season its more like five. And with four losses already in 2004, Kansas State is down to its last one if it wants to keep its string of 11 consecutive bowl berths intact. With five games to play, the Wildcats must win at least four games to hit the magic six-win mark and go bowling for the 12th straight season.

K-State's been down this road before

Though it's never the route of choice, Kansas State has been 2-4 after six games before and still managed to play in the postseason. During the 2001 campaign, K-State opened with four losses in its first six games, before Head Coach Bill Snyder guided the Wildcats to perhaps the most impressive mid-season turnaround in school history. That year, the Wildcats reeled off victories in four of its final five games to finish the regular season with a 6-5 record and earn a bid to play Insight.com Bowl.

History says don't count out the Cats

Though things may look bleak at the moment for Kansas State, Bill Snyder's teams have developed a reputation for strong finishes. Since the start of the Big 12 Conference in 1996, K-State has won over 90 percent of its games down the home stretch, going a stunning 36-4 over the final five games of the regular season. Four times during that eight-year span the Wildcats went a perfect 5-0 (1997, 1998, 2002 and 2003), with Kansas State posting 4-1 marks during the other four campaigns (1996, 1999, 2000 and 2001).

The buck stops here

Kansas State will be looking to avoid just its second four-game losing streak since the 1990 campaign. K-State opened conference play in 2001 with four straight losses before closing the year with wins in four of its last five games. The Cats also dropped four in a row during the 1992 campaign, including its first three Big Eight games.

Wildcats still rank among Big 12's Best

Despite their three-game losing streak, Kansas State still remains one of Big 12's top programs. Since the league's inception in 1996, only this week's opponent, Nebraska, has won more conference games than Kansas State. K-State, which has won nearly 75 percent of its Big 12 games (not including championship games), is 49-18 in league play and will be bidding to become the second team in the conference history to hit the 50-win mark Saturday.

Friendly confines

With three of its final five games in the friendly confines of KSU Stadium, Kansas State will try to take advantage of what has been one of the most home-field advantages in all of college football. In all games since the start of the 1990 season (Snyder's second in Manhattan), Kansas State is an amazing 83-12-1 (.870) when playing on Wagner Field, including a 41-10-1 (.798) mark in league games (combined Big 8/ Big 12). During that stretch, the Wildcats have never lost more than twice at home and have hit at least the six win mark eight times in the last 11 seasons.

Coming off a loss

Kansas State has made a habit of bouncing back from losses under Head Coach Bill Snyder. Since the start of the 1995 season, K-State is 16-8 when coming off a loss, with three of those six setbacks occurring during 2001, two during 2003 and two this season. The Wildcats continued the trend of successfully bouncing back from a loss earlier this season with a 40-20 victory over Louisiana-Lafayette on the heels of its loss to Fresno State, but were unable to do so following their setbacks at Texas A&M and Kansas.

Cats in October

Kansas State's prowess in August - 6-0 all time - and September - 39-3 since 1992 - are well documented. However, the Wildcats have also been a solid team in October under head coach Bill Snyder. Since the inception of the Big 12 Conference, K-State is 22-14 (.611) during that stretch.

Winning the stat war

Kansas State may be just 2-4 on the season, but a quick check of the stat sheet reveals that the Wildcats could easily have a winning record. In six games thus far, K-State has statistically out-paced the competition in total offense four times, including 2-of-3 Big 12 games. The Cats have also produced more first downs than 4-of-6 opponents this year. For the season, Kansas State has more total yards (2,108 to 1,953) and first downs (125 to 96) but trails in the only stat that really matters -- points (167 to 182 or 2.5 points per game).

We're first

Despite finishing on the short end of the scoreboard in 4-of-6 games this season, Kansas State has been able to get off to quick starts. The Wildcats have scored first in 5-of-6 games this season and including Bret Jones' interception for a touchdown against Fresno State have put points on the board the first time they have touched the ball in all but one game (Kansas). For the season, K-State has outscored the opposition 41-35 in the first quarter.

Foes cashing in on K-State miscues

Kansas State has turned the ball over just four more times than its opponents this season (14 to 10), but Wildcat opponents have proved to be much more opportunistic than K-State. Through six games, Kansas State's foes have 51 of their 182 points (28 percent) following Wildcat turnovers, meaning that each K-State miscue has cost the Cats nearly four points. On the flip side, K-State has tallied just 27 of its 167 points (16 percent) on turnovers.

Factoring field position

Field position has played a huge factor in Kansas State's season thus far. After having an average starting field position of its own 28-yard line in the first two games of the season, Kansas State produced a dramatic turnaround in starting field position vs. Louisiana-Lafayette. On 12 drives, K-State's average starting field position was its own 43, with six drives starting in Ragin' Cajun territory. And the Wildcats were able to take advantage of the short fields, producing points on all six drives. However, in its three Big 12 games, K-State has all too often opened in the shadow of its own goal post. Against the Aggies, the Wildcats started just one possession in Texas A&M territory, while A&M opened three drives inside the Wildcat 15. If Texas A&M's final drive, which started at its own 2-yard line following a Hail Mary interception, is taken out of the mix, the Aggies average starting field position was their own 42. At Kansas, the Jayhawks also benefited from great field position, starting five drives on the Wildcats' side of the 50 compared to just one K-State drive opening in KU territory. The Cats suffered the same fate in their loss to Fresno State as the Bulldogs' average starting field position was their own 45, with FSU opening six drives on the K-State side of midfield. Against Oklahoma, the story was similar, with the Sooners opening three drives in Kansas State territory, two via fumbles, and the Wildcats starting all of their 13 drives on the K-State side of midfield.

Backed up

The Kansas State defense may be yielding 30 points per game this season, but a quick look inside the numbers reveals that the unit has been put in a number of tough spots. Of the 28 scoring drives the Wildcats have given up this season, 11 have opened inside K-State's 40-yard line with five of those starting in the red zone. On the flip side, the K-State defense has been solid when it has had some room to work with. Of the 35 drives opponents have started inside their own 30, Kansas State has yielded points on just 10.

Driving for show

Pardon the golf analogy, but Kansas State has shown a keen ability to string together long drives this season. Through six games, the Wildcats have engineered nine scoring drives of 80 or more yards this season, including four in the last two weeks. K-State has also chewed up over five minutes on seven separate scoring drives, while taking double-digit snaps on 12 others.

Ball hogs

Kansas State, which leads the Big 12 in time of possession, has held the possession edge in three of its last four games and 4-of-6 this season. K-State held the ball for over 33 minutes and ran 66 plays at Kansas on the heels of posting a TOP of 40:28 on 90 plays at Texas A&M. The Wildcats' time of possession vs. the Aggies was its most since holding the ball for 40:38 vs. Temple on Sept. 11, 1999. Against the Owls, K-State ran a scant 81 plays and won the game 40-0. The last time K-State totaled 90 or more plays occurred on Nov. 17, 2001, when the Cats also ran 90 plays in a 40-7 win over Louisiana Tech.

In the zone

Kansas State continues to be one of the Big 12's best red zone teams, especially since the start of conference play. Through six games, K-State has converted 20-of-24 red-zone opportunities into points. However, the Wildcats have been even better in Big 12 games, scoring on 9-of-10 chances.

Long plays adding up

With the success Kansas State has enjoyed recently in the passing game, the Wildcats' number of big plays continue to mount. For the season, Kansas State has connected on 22 plays of 20 yards or more, including four over 40 yards. Of the 22, 16 have come via the passing game, with 10 of those coming in the last three games alone.

Taking flight

With opponents stacked at the line of scrimmage to stop All-American running back Darren Sproles, Kansas State has successfully shifted gears and turned to the air in the last three games. The result has been a resurrected passing attack that ranks No. 2 in the Big 12 since the start of league play. During its three non-conference games, Kansas State completed just 29-of-52 passes for 369 yards and three touchdowns. Since then, the Wildcats have connected on 69-of-119 attempts for 798 yards and six TDs.

Last 3 games	119-69-3	58.0	798	6	266.0

Meier wielding hot hand

Kansas State sophomore quarterback Dylan Meier has truly come of age in the Wildcats' last three games. Since the start of conference play, Meier ranks second in the Big 12 in passing (245.7 ypg) and fourth touchdown passes (6) despite playing in only 10 quarters. And Meier, who ranks third in the Big 12 on this week's NCAA passing efficiency chart, has been using all his options. In the last three games, the sophomore has connected with nine different receivers, with four hauling in nine or more passes. He has also tossed 62 passes without an interception since having a desperation Hail Mary heave picked on K-State's final drive at Texas A&M on Oct. 2.

Meier stepping up in Big 12 play

Despite posting losses in its last three games, quarterback Dylan Meier has emerged as one of a number of bright spots for Kansas State. The sophomore, who ranks No. 3 on the NCAA's passing efficiency chart among Big 12 quarterbacks and No. 29 overall with a 135.65 rating, chalked up back-to-back games with career-high numbers vs. Texas A&M and Kansas. At A&M, the Pittsburg, Kan., product connected on 29-of-45 attempts to eight different receivers for 247 yards and three touchdowns for the third most completions in a game ever by a K-State quarterback. At Kansas, Meier was fit enough to play only in the second half but again hit a new career high with 249 yards through the air and a pair of TD tosses, including an 86 yarder to senior Tony Madison that was K-State's longest pass play from scrimmage since Jonathan Beasley and Quincy Morgan hooked up from 88 yards out in the 1999 Sunflower Showdown. Over the last three games, Meier has connected on 64-of-107 passes (59.8 percent) for 737 yards and six touchdowns.

Receiving corps emerging as one of the Big 12's best

Unlike last season, when Kansas State relied heavily on the talents of James Terry in the passing game, the Wildcats have employed a group effort in 2004. And with defenses stacked to stop K-State's high-powered running game, K-State's receiving corps is beginning to make some noise. In just six games, no less than six Wildcats have already rung up double-figures in receptions for the year. Sophomore Yamon Figurs is leading the way with 21 catches, including 15 since the start of Big 12 action. He ranks third in receiving yards in Big 12 games with 78.7 per game and is tied with teammate Jermaine Moreira in receptions per game (5.0) in conference play. Senior Tony Madison, who leads the team with a 16.5 yard per-catch average, is also among the Big 12's top 10 in receiving yards during conference play, averaging 60.3 per contest. Also in the mix have been senior tight end Brian Casey, who is third on the team in receptions for the season with 15, and senior receiver Davin Dennis, who has hauled in 11 passes this year.

Sproles looks to get back on a roll

Despite facing stacked defensive fronts that have held him below 100 yards rushing three times since the start of Big 12 play, senior running back Darren Sproles continues to rank among the national leaders in both rushing (11th) and all-purpose yards (4th). He enters the Nebraska game averaging 119.7 yards per game on the ground and 181.2 yards of all-purpose offense.

Already this year, Sproles has twice topped 200 yards on the ground in a game, including a staggering 292-yard performance vs. Louisiana-Lafayette that re-set Kansas State's single-game rushing record.

The 292 yards, which topped the previous school mark of 273 yards set by Sproles vs. Missouri on Nov. 22, 2003, are the seventh-most in Big 12 history and the most by a Big 12 player since Colorado's Chris Brown rushed for 309 yards against Kansas on Oct. 12, 2002. It also marked the fifth time in an eight-game stretch that the senior rushed for more than 200 yards, including a 221-yard performance in the season opener vs. Western Kentucky. The rushing total against UL-Lafayette marked Sproles' 21st career 100-yard rushing performance, a figure that is just three behind Ricky Williams' Big 12 record of 24.

Tough on Big Red

Over the past two seasons, few backs have enjoyed as much success against Nebraska's Black Shirts as Kansas State's Darren Sproles. Since becoming K-State's starting running back, Sproles has rushed for 295 yards, an average 147.5 yards per game, with four touchdowns.

Hot in the home stretch

Since becoming Kansas State's starting running back, Darren Sproles has been nearly unstoppable over the final five games of the season. During 2002, Sproles topped 100 yards in all five games, averaging 121.6 yards per game on 104 carries with nine touchdowns. He was even better during 2004, going over 200 yards twice and totaling 867 yards on the ground on 125 attempts for an average of 173.4 yards per game with seven TDs.

Sproles nabs K-State touchdown record

With his one-yard touchdown run last week against Oklahoma, Darren Sproles added yet another Kansas State record to his resume. Sproles notched his 40th career touchdown vs. the Sooners to tie Ell Roberson atop K-State's career touchdown chart. In the Big 12 rankings, Sproles' 40 scores ranks ninth.

Sproles also eyeing Big 12 records

K-State's career rushing leader, Darren Sproles has amassed an incredible 4,379 yards on 719 carries in just over two seasons as a starter. The figure includes a nation-best 1,986 yards on 306 attempts in 2003 and 718 yards already this season. Sproles' career rushing total ranks third all time in the Big 12 Conference, 910 yards behind all-time leader Ricky Williams (5,289). He is also among the conference's top 10 in four other career Big 12 categories, including second in all-purpose yards (5,832), seventh in rushing touchdowns (37), sixth in rushing attempts (719) and ninth in total touchdowns (40).

Just the seventh player in Big 12 history to accumulate 3,000 yards rushing and the first Wildcat to do so, Sproles re-set K-State's single-season rushing record during 2003, shattering the mark he set in 2002 as a sophomore, when he gained 1,465 yards on 237 carries.

All-purpose, all the time

Darren Sproles, who ranks No. 4 nationally this week in all-purpose yardage (205.0 ypg) and No. 11 in rushing, re-set the Kansas single-game all-purpose record vs. Louisiana-Lafayette with 351 yards. In addition to his 292 rushing yards, he had a 25-yard punt return, a 35-yard kickoff return and six receiving yards, topping his previous best of 345 yards vs. Oklahoma in the 2003 Big 12 Championship game on Dec. 6, 2003. The senior has now produced over 100 all-purpose yards in 29 of the last 33 games with three plus-300 yard performances.

On the straight and narrow

Though many programs have struggled in the kicking game in 2004, Kansas State has not been one of them thanks to the steady performance of senior place-kicker Joe Rheem. Rheem, a Lou Groza Award candidate, has connected on 9-of-10 field goal attempts, including a career-long 49-yarder at Kansas, and each of his 18 PATs. As a result, Rheem has jumped in to Kansas State's top five in both career scoring and field goals made. With eight points at KU, the senior moved passed his brother, Jamie, and into second place on K-State's total points chart and now has 260 for his career. He also ranks fifth all-time at Kansas State in field goals made with 34. On this week's NCAA field goal chart, Rheem ranks 17th in field goals per game (1.50) and is one of only three kickers with at least 10 attempts to connect on at least 90 percent of their field goal tries. He also owns one of the longest consecutive PAT strings in the nation with 55 in a row and has gone over a year since his last missed PAT (10/18/03 vs. CU).

Simmons stepping forward

Junior linebacker Marvin Simmons has emerged as a force in the K-State defense since the start of conference play. In the last three games, Simmons has been credited with 24 total tackles and ranks 11th in the Big 12 in total stops during league games. That figure includes a game-high and career-best 13-tackle performance against Oklahoma in his first ever start at middle linebacker. Simmons also collected eight stops at Kansas for a total of 21 in the last two games alone and now leads the team with 37 total tackles.

Archer on target

Sophomore linebacker Brandon Archer is yet another Wildcat who has emerged into a starter in 2004. The strong-side linebacker ranks second on the team with 35 tackles, and has twice hit double figures in stops this season with a career-high 11 in his first start against Fresno State and 10 against Oklahoma. He also snared his first career interceptions against the Sooners, returning it 27 yards for a touchdown. In conference games, Archer has been credited with 20 tackles and ranks in the Big 12's top 20 in total stops during league action. It is quite a step in play for the sophomore, who saw action in all 15 games last season after redshirting in 2002, but posted just 15 tackles on the year, including nine solo stops, with one tackle for loss and a forced fumble.

Berry good

Defensive tackle and leading returning tackler Jermaine Berry continues to put up big tackle numbers, despite playing on the interior of K-State's line. Berry, who was K-State's leading returning tackler with 82 stops a year ago, currently ranks fourth on the team in tackles and 41st in the Big 12 with 31 through six games. He opened the season on fire, recording seven stops, including a half a sack for a 2-yard loss in the season opener before collecting nine total stops vs. Fresno State and two vs. Louisiana-Lafayette. A Lombardi Award Watch List member to start the season, Berry is the only defensive tackle listed among the top 45 on the Big 12's tackle chart.

Quarterbacks beware

After getting the 2004 season off to a slow start with just one sack in the first four games of the season, defensive end Scott Edmonds had a monster game last week at Kansas. The junior finished the game tied for Kansas State's team lead in tackles with eight, including four behind the Jayhawks line of scrimmage. Two of his tackles for loss were sacks, including a fourth-quarter sack that resulted in Edmonds' third forced fumble of the season. Against Oklahoma, Edmonds accounted for just one tackle, but did record his second career blocked field goal, snuffing Trey DiCarlo's 40-yard attempt early in the third quarter.

Bill Snyder Shows

Radio: Kansas State head coach Bill Snyder and the "voice" of the Wildcats, Wyatt Thompson host a weekly radio call-in show each Thursday night throughout the season on the Mid America Sports Network. The show, which airs live from 7-8 p.m., originates from the Vanier Football Complex on the K-State campus.

Television: The Bill Snyder weekly TV Show will air exclusively on Fox Sports Midwest during the 2004 season, beginning Sunday, Sept. 5. Scheduled weekly times for the 30-minute show, hosted by Thompson, are 1 p.m. Sundays and 1 p.m. Tuesdays. The Fox Sports Midwest territory of 4.2 million homes includes virtually all cable and satellite homes in the state of Kansas as well as the Kansas City market.

Kansas State Head Coach Bill Snyder

► Kansas State Head Coach Bill Snyder (William Jewell '62) is 129-59-1 (.685) in his 16th season at Kansas State... His 129 victories are more than triple the man in second place on the all-time coaching victories list at Kansas State (Mike Ahearn had 39 wins from 1905-10).
 ► Snyder has directed one of the most spectacular turnarounds in college football history, as before his arrival it took K-State 48 seasons (1941-1988) to total just 116 wins... The 12 head coaches prior to Snyder's arrival in Manhattan combined to win 115 games from 1945-1988.
 ► Snyder is 83-26 the past eight seasons and ranks fourth in number of total victories over that stretch. Snyder's seven-year mark of 74-23 ranks fifth in the number of victories among coaches in Division I-A over that span. His six-year win total is also No. 5 nationally.

► By achieving his 100th career victory in a win at USC in 2001, he matched the 14th-fastest trip to the century mark in college football.
 ► Snyder is 6-5 in bowl games with the Wildcats.
 ► Including 2003, his Kansas State teams have finished 11 of the last 12 seasons ranked in the AP Top 20, including six years in which K-State has finished in the Top 10
 ► K-State's best-ever ranking in the final AP poll of the year was sixth, following its Holiday Bowl win in 1999.
 ► The Wildcats were sixth in the 2002 final ESPN/USA Today poll and were seventh in the final Associated Press ranking. In 2003 K-State finished ranked No. 14 in the AP rankings and No. 13 in the Coaches poll.
 ► Snyder has coached 33 Associated Press All-Americans during his tenure at Kansas State, including first team selection Darren Sproles and second team pick Josh Buhl in 2003.

Cat captains

Five players have been voted by their teammates to serve as captains for the 2004 season. Seniors Darren Sproles and Brian Casey, along with junior Victor Mann will represent the offense, while senior Jermaine Berry and junior Jesse Tetuan were selected on the defensive side of the ball.

Starts piling up for veterans

Several Wildcats are beginning to total some pretty impressive numbers as far as consecutive starts. Here's a look as K-State's current list of players with consecutive double-digit starts:

Player	Consecutive Starts	Career Starts
Darren Sproles, RB.....	34	34
Mike Johnson, C/G.....	27	32
Jesse Tetuan, DB.....	21	24
Jermaine Berry, DT.....	21	21
Jon Doty, OT.....	21	21
Jeromey Clary, OT.....	21	21

Bowl Streaking

Kansas State made its 11th straight postseason bowl appearance and 12th overall in school history, capping the 2003 season with a trip to the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. The string of consecutive bowl appearances places K-State in elite company as only six other programs in the nation -- Nebraska, Michigan, Florida State, Tennessee, Florida and Virginia Tech -- have played in at least 11 straight bowls.

DEFENSIVE BACKS

28 David Rose (CB) Sr.

Has opened at corner in all six games... Start vs. Western Kentucky was the first of his career... Credited with 18 tackles on the season with 13 solos... Made six solo tackles against Fresno State... Made two solo tackles at Kansas... Made five tackles and broke up a season-high two passes against Oklahoma... Saw action in 13 games in 2003 and 2002... An extremely intelligent player and could push for Academic All-America honors with enough playing time... Father, Tyrone, was a wrestler at UNLV.

2 Louis Lavender* (CB) Sr.

Has split time at corner with David Rose... Made four starts during 2003, but is still looking for his first start of 2004... Credited with seven tackles on the season, including five solo stops... Had three solos in the season opener vs. WKU.

23 Jesse Tetuan (SS) Jr.

Has made 21 consecutive starts and 24 total during his career which is tops among K-State defenders... Opened at free safety in the first three games of the season but started at strong vs. Texas A&M... Ranks ninth in the Big 12 and is third on the Wildcats with 34 total tackles, including a team-best 21 solos... Opened the season with eight tackles (seven solo) against Western Kentucky... Recorded a career-high 11 tackles, including eight solo stops, against Fresno State... Credited with three tackles and an interception against Louisiana-Lafayette... Pick vs. the Ragin' Cajuns was first since recording the second of his career at Baylor (10/26/02)... Broke up one pass to go along with five tackles against Texas A&M... Made six tackles against Oklahoma... Brother, John, was a first team All-American pitcher at Wichita State and was a ninth-round pick by the Rockies in 2002.

31 Marcus Patton (SS) Sr.

Opened at strong safety in K-State's first three games... Start vs. Western Kentucky was the first of his career... Credited with nine tackles on the season... Registered three tackles against WKU... Tied a career-high with five total stops against Fresno State... Made one solo tackle at Kansas.

8 Bret Jones (FS) Jr.

Has started in three Big 12 games... Made his first career start at Texas A&M after coming off the bench in the season's first three games... Has been a quick study in picking up the K-State defense after arriving in the summer... Credited with seven tackles on the season, including a six-tackle outing against Louisiana-Lafayette... Did not have a tackle vs. Fresno State, but did register a pair of interceptions... Returned his first career pick 42 yards for a touchdown and the first score of the game... Team leader in solo tackles with five and tied for lead in total tackles with eight at Texas A&M... Made four total tackles, including assisting on a tackle for a two-yard loss.

24 Maurice Mack* (FS) So.

Listed second on depth chart at free safety... Made seven total tackles, including five solo stops in a reserve role against Oklahoma... Also registered first two pass breakups of the season against Sooners... Credited with two assisted tackles on the season... Notched his first career interception against Louisiana-Lafayette... Has also returned kicks for the Wildcats, with a career-long 37-yarder vs. Ohio State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

4 Cedrick Williams* (CB) Sr.

A starter in 17 consecutive games, including all six in 2004... Rated as one of the top cover corners in the Big 12... Has made 22 tackles on the season, including 19 solo stops... Also credited with a pair of pass break-ups... Had three solo stops in the opener vs. Western Kentucky... Registered five solos in win over Louisiana-Lafayette... Made six solo stops and one assisted tackle against Oklahoma... Notched five interceptions during 2003.

17 Maurice Porter (CB) Jr.

Another emerging talent in the secondary... Had a solid spring and has worked his way onto the Wildcats 2-deep... Credited with first career tackle vs. Louisiana-Lafayette... Registered an assisted tackle against Oklahoma.

SPECIALISTS UPDATES15 Joe Rheem (PK/KO) Sr.

Ranks second at K-State in career scoring with 260 points and fifth in field goals made (34)... Ranks 49th in the nation in scoring with 7.5 points per game... Ranks 17th nationally on the season in field goals per game (1.5)... Is also 18-for-18 on PATs and has made 55 straight dating to K-State's game vs. Colorado on Oct. 18, 2003... Knocked home career-long 49 yard kick against Kansas and totaled eight points vs. the Jayhawks... Finished with six points at Texas A&M, with a 25-yard field goal... Scored 16 of Kansas State's 40 points vs. UL-Lafayette, going a perfect 4-of-4 on field goal attempts of 41, 34, 33 and 33 yards and connecting on all four PATs... His 4-for-4 field goal effort vs. ULL tied brother Jamie for No. 2 on K-State's single-game chart... Good from 19 and 22 yards vs. Western Kentucky.

17 Tim Reyer (P) Fr.

A true freshman walk-on who took over as K-State's starting punter vs. Louisiana-Lafayette... Had just one punt against the Ragin' Cajuns, hitting a 32-yarder into a stiff head wind... Registered career-best 45.0 per punt average against Texas A&M... Booted a 48 yarder against Aggies... Launched a career-best 61 yarder against Oklahoma... Finished game with Sooners with a 40.3 yard average on six punts... Averaging 37.2 yards on 13 punts for the season... Made first career appearance vs. Fresno State.

88 Jesse Martinez (P) Jr.

Averaging 35.5 yards on 13 punts this season... Has punted in 5-of-6 games... Averaged 48.0 yards on two punts at Kansas, including a season-long 50 yarder, for best outing of the season.

Recap

MANHATTAN, Kan. — Darren Sproles ran for 221 yards and a touchdown on 42 carries, leading No. 12 Kansas State to a 27-13 victory over Western Kentucky in the season opener for both teams.

Sproles, the nation's leading rusher with 1,986 yards last season, extended his school record with his 20th 100-yard game. He has gone over 200 yards in four of his last six games. After his 32-yard touchdown run for a 17-6 lead in the third quarter, he needs two more TDs to tie Eli Roberson for the Wildcats' career record of 40.

Dylan Meier, a sophomore making his first start at quarterback as Roberson's replacement, threw for 183 yards and ran for 60 yards and one score. He was replaced by Allen Webb midway through a drive in the fourth quarter, and Webb capped that possession with an 8-yard run for a 27-13 lead with just over 6 1/2 minutes left.

Kansas State outgained the Hilltoppers 502 yards to 259.

Still, the Wildcats' 14th straight home-opening win was closer than it might have been.

Kansas State led 10-6 at half-time and 20-13 after three quarters and struggled to convert red zone opportunities for much of the game.

The Wildcats scored easily on their opening possession, capped by Meier's 9-yard run midway through the first quarter for a 7-0 lead. But Sproles fumbled at Western Kentucky's 18 on Kansas State's next drive, and Charles Thompson recovered for the Hilltoppers.

Western Kentucky converted turnover into Lerron Moore's 13-yard TD run with just over 10 1/2 minutes in the half, cutting the lead to 7-6. But the Hilltoppers missed the point after and could not capitalize on a successful outside kick.

Penalties killed another drive for Kansas State later in the second quarter, taking the Wildcats out of field goal range after they had reached Western Kentucky's 32.

The Wildcats then had first and goal on the 3-yard line with more than a minute left in the half -- but fumbled two exchanges and had to settle for Joe Rheem's 22-yard field goal as time expired for a 10-6 lead.

After Sproles' TD and Rheem's 19-yard field goal put the Wildcats up 20-6 in the third quarter, Justin Haddix's 5-yard pass to Earl Clayton in the closing seconds of the period got the Hilltoppers within 20-13.

Haddix finished 10-for-21 for 182 yards passing, and Maurice Perkins had five catches for 126 yards for the Hilltoppers.

Game 2

Recap

MANHATTAN, Kan. — Fresno State was able to keep Darren Sproles under wraps, holding the senior to just 37 yards rushing, as Fresno State knocked off Kansas State, 45-21, at KSU Stadium.

Paul Pinegar threw two touchdown passes to Matt Rivera and ran for another score to lead the way for the Bulldogs.

Dwayne Wright added 76 yards on the ground and a pair of scores as Fresno State notched its second road win over a team from a BCS conference in seven days.

Kansas State led 7-0 before it took a snap thanks to a Bret Jones 42-yard interception return for a touchdown less than 3 1/2 minutes into the game.

But things went downhill quickly for the Cats, who mustered just 2 yards of offense in the first quarter and trailed 31-14 at the half.

Jones grabbed his second pick to thwart a potential touchdown drive in the third quarter and Maurice Mack added his first career interception, but the turnovers did little to stem Fresno State's momentum.

In addition to his ground attack, Wright also caught three passes for 65 yards before being hurt on a 61-yard swing pass in the fourth quarter -- a play that set Bryson Sumlin's 4-yard TD run for a 45-14 lead. Sumlin finished with 68 yards rushing, while Pinegar was 17-for-30 for 244 yards.

The Wildcats showed a spark of life in the second quarter when Dylan Meier replaced first-time starter Alan Webb at quarterback and sparked a 56-yard touchdown drive with a 47-yard TD pass to Davin Dennis that got the Wildcats within 17-14. But that is as close as Kansas State would get as Pinegar connected with Rivera from 10 yards out for a 24-14 lead. Then, after Adam Jennings' 40-yard punt return to K-State's 11, Pinegar scored from the 2 to make it 31-14.

On the ensuing possession, Meier once again had the Wildcats on the march. But an interception by James Sanders deep in Bulldogs' territory in the closing seconds of the first half snuffed out any chance for K-State to take the momentum into halftime.

Webb returned to the game to start the second half but tossed an interception to Richard Marshall, and the Bulldogs capitalized with Pinegar's 29-yard swing pass play to Rivera for a 38-14 lead.

A Sumlin touchdown from 4 yards out stretched the lead to 45-14 with just under five minutes to play. Sproles, who finished with 178 all-purpose yards for the game, took the resulting kickoff 79 yards to the Bulldog 19 to set up the final score of the game when Brian Casey fumbled into the end zone after catching a 13-yard pass, and Tony Madison fell on it for a TD.

Attendance • 47,914

Recap

MANHATTAN, Kan. — Darren Sproles ran for a school-record 292 yards and a touchdown and quarterback Dylan Meier added a pair of rushing scores as the Wildcats ran past Louisiana-Lafayette 40-20 before 47,914 at KSU Stadium.

Led by Sproles, who also smashed the K-State all-purpose record with 351 yards, the Wildcats ground out 393 yards via the run for the seventh-most productive rushing effort in school history.

Unlike the previous week, Sproles got off to a fast start, posting his collecting his sixth career 100-yard rushing quarter in the first 15 minutes by totalling 104 yards on just 12 carries.

By intermission, the senior had rolled up 195 yards, including a 35-yard touchdown run.

A pair of filed goals by place-kicker Joe Rheem and a Meier TD pass to tight end Brian Casey helped Kansas State build a 20-7 halftime lead.

After the break, Sproles ripped off runs of 16, 11, 9 and 9 yards in an 80-yard TD drive on Kansas State's first possession of the third quarter. Meier capped the drive from a yard out to make it 27-7.

Marvin Simmons intercepted a Jerry Babb pass on the next Ragin' Cajun possession to set up another Rheem field goal as the Wildcats' lead swelled to 30-7.

Babb, however rallied Louisiana-Lafayette with a 9-yard touchdown run to help close the gap before galloping 80 yards early in the fourth quarter to set up a 1-yard plunge from Chester Johnson that sliced the K-State lead to 30-20 with just over 10 minutes to go.

But a Davin Dennis 41-yard return on the ensuing kickoff gave Kansas State excellent field position once again and the Wildcats took advantage as Meier went over from 5 yards out for his second score of the game.

A fourth field goal in the final minutes gave Rheem a career high in makes as the senior finished a perfect afternoon with 13 points and put the finishing touches on the victory.

Junior college transfer Brett Jones collected a team-high eight tackles in his first extensive playing time off the bench to lead the defense, while junior safety Jesse Tetuan also got into the act with his first interception of the year.

Game 4

Recap

COLLEGE STATION, Texas — Kansas State turned out to be its own worst enemy in its 2004 Big 12 opener, setting up three short Texas A&M touchdown drives with turnovers as the Wildcats were knocked off by the Aggies 42-30 at Kyle Field despite getting a career night from sophomore quarterback Dylan Meier.

Courtney Lewis ran for three touchdowns to lead the way for Texas A&M, sending the Aggies to their third straight win.

Meier connected with eight different receivers en route to a 29-for-45 passing performance that included three touchdowns and was just four completions off the K-State single-game record.

But Meier's performance was not enough to overcome the miscues that started A&M drives at the K-State 12, 5 and 2.

The Aggies quickly scored touchdowns on all three. Their other scoring drives were fast, too - 80 yards in four plays, 69 yards in five plays and a three-play, 67-yarder in the final minute, when it looked like they might just be running out the clock.

A&M ran just 43 plays, while the Wildcats had 90. Kansas State also the ball for more than twice as long as the Aggies -- 40 minutes, 28 seconds to 19:32.

That would usually mean big numbers for Sproles, the nation's leader in all-purpose yards at 250 per game, but he was held to 61 rushing and 48 receiving. And 35 of his rushing yards came on the opening drive, when Kansas State marched 63 yards on 12 plays to take an early 7-0 lead.

Sproles committed K-State's first two turnovers, leading to A&M's first touchdown and another in the third quarter that gave the Aggies back the momentum they'd just lost and led to the TD that put them up 28-17.

After an interception helped A&M stretch the lead to 35-17, Meier rallied the Cats with two fourth-quarter touchdown passes to Jermaine Moreira. K-State then was driving for the go-ahead points with under two minutes left but on fourth down and flicked the ball to Sproles. He scooted between a few defenders only to run into one of his linemen five yards shy of a first down.

Reggie McNeal then iced the game for A&M with a 62-yard sprint on third down in the final minute to produce the final score of the game.

McNeal completed just 7-of-12 passes for 129 yards, including a 29-yard touchdown pass to Terrence Murphy, but led the Aggies on the ground with 84 yards and eluded several potential sacks.

Recap

MANHATTAN, Kan. — Dylan Meier came off the bench and passed for 249 yards and two touchdowns and ran for a third in the second half, but it was not enough to help the Wildcats overcome an inspired Kansas effort as the Jayhawks snapped Kansas State's 11-game stranglehold on the Sunflower State Showdown with a 31-28 victory Saturday night at Memorial Stadium.

Kansas (3-3, 1-2 Big 12), which had not won a game in the series since 1992, led 7-6 at the half and 17-6 late in the third quarter before Meier, who replaced starter Allen Webb to open the second half, guided the Wildcats to a pair of long touchdown drives to give Kansas State (2-3, 0-2 Big 12) a 21-17 lead with 13:20 remaining in the fourth quarter.

However, the Jayhawks struck back behind a 31-yard touchdown reception by Mark Simmons and a 43-yard run by John Randle with 3:16 to play to go on top for good.

Brian Casey hauled in an 8-yard touchdown from Meier with just over 2 minutes left to get the Wildcats within three points. But K-State was unable to come up with the ensuing on-sides kick and Kansas was able to run out the clock.

Randle rushed for 105 yards to lead Kansas.

The first half was more of a defensive battle, with Kansas drawing first blood behind a 53-yard drive on their second possession and took their first lead over Kansas State in eight years when Barmann hit Lyonel Anderson with a 2-yard TD pass.

The drive appeared to be stalled when Barmann's pass into the end zone fell incomplete on third-and-14, but Bret Jones was flagged for pass interference, giving Kansas a first down on the 3.

Kansas State's Joe Rheem booted a career-long 49-yard field goal early in the second quarter to make it 7-3. He also made a 37-yarder with 2:01 left in the half.

Game 6

Recap

MANHATTAN, Kan. — Kansas State stood toe-to-toe with No. 2-ranked Oklahoma for three quarters, but the Sooners proved to be too much down the stretch as OU held on for a 31-21 victory before 52,310 at KSU Stadium.

Dylan Meier passed for 242 yards, including a 38-yard touchdown strike to Yamon Figures, and ran for another score to lead Kansas State to an early lead.

Jason White threw for four touchdowns, two each to Travis Wilson and Mark Clayton to pace the Sooners. Oklahoma also got 130 yards on the ground from freshman Adrian Peterson.

Kansas State led three times but couldn't hold onto its lead as Oklahoma scored the final 14 points of the game.

The Wildcats went up 21-17 with just under 10 minutes left in the third quarter, courtesy of White's only miscue of the day. On first down from his own 27, White threw into the left flat -- straight to Wildcat linebacker Brandon Archer, who returned it 27 yards for a touchdown.

But White redeemed himself on Oklahoma's next possession, throwing a 15-yard scoring pass to Clayton for a 24-21 lead. Clayton's 8-yard TD catch made it 31-21 midway through the fourth quarter, carrying a drive on which Peterson carried seven times for 46 yards.

Darren Sproles, Kansas State's All-America running back, was held largely in check both by Oklahoma's defense and Kansas State's pass-first game plan.

Sproles, finished with 34 yards on only 13 carries, but tied former quarterback Eli Roberson's school record for career touchdowns with a 1-yard burst for a 7-0 lead in the first quarter.

The Wildcats had a chance to go up by double figures later in the first, but linebacker Rufus Alexander sacked and stripped Dylan Meier in Oklahoma territory and then recovered the fumble at his 46. That set up White's 17-yard pass to Wilson, tying the score at 7.

The Sooners, who went three-and-out on their first two possessions, fell behind 14-7 on Meier's 38-yard pass to Figurs early in the second quarter. But on Oklahoma's next possession, White and Wilson hooked up twice for 55 yards, the last time on a 14-yard touchdown pass to make it 14-14.

Oklahoma took its first lead, 17-14, on Trey DiCarlo's 26-yard field goal with just more than three minutes left in the half.

Scott Edmonds blocked DiCarlo's 40-yard attempt on the third quarter, for his second career blocked field goal.
