Nebraska Coaching Staff

Bill Callahan Head Coach First Season

Less than a year after guiding his team to the pinnacle of professional football, Bill Callahan took control of a program at the peak of the college football world.

The 47-year-old Callahan was named Nebraska's head coach on Jan. 9, becoming the 27th head coach in the 114-year history of the storied Cornhusker program.

Callahan brought a wealth of NFL and collegiate experience to Nebraska, including the previous two seasons as head coach of the Oakland Raiders.

"Coach Bill Callahan is a rare find," Nebraska Athletic Director Steve Pederson said. "As a Super Bowl coach, a top-level recruiter, and an experienced coach on the college level, he has all the ingredients to continue the consistent success that typifies Nebraska. As I talked to football people from around the country, the name Bill Callahan is held in very high esteem. We are excited he is here, and I am happy to work with him to continue the success of this program."

After serving as head coach of the Oakland Raiders the past two years, Callahan said he was thrilled with the opportunity to return to the college ranks.

"I knew in my heart that Nebraska was an ideal situation from a professional and a personal standpoint," Callahan said. "Nebraska has all the components and elements of a rich tradition and history that was so appealing to me in this decision-making process. I've always respected the college game, particularly the passion and love the players have for the game. One of Nebraska's greatest traditions of course, is its fans and the incredible sellout streak in Memorial Stadium. Having spent 15 years in the college ranks, I know that there truly is no place like Nebraska."

Callahan has embraced the Cornhusker tradition and has spent his first three months on the job building on the previous success of the Nebraska program. Callahan is highly respected throughout the coaching ranks and he used those ties to quickly assemble a championship coaching staff in Lincoln.

Including Callahan, four Nebraska coaches have experience in the Super Bowl, including three as coaches and one as a player. The staff includes coaches who spent the 2003 season in six different collegiate conferences, as well as the National Football League. The diverse background and strong ties to different areas of the country allowed Nebraska to attract a top-25 national recruiting class despite Callahan being hired less than a month before National Signing Day.

Callahan came to Nebraska after serving the past two seasons as the head coach of the Oakland Raiders. Hired by Raiders owner Al Davis in March of 2002, Callahan led the Raiders to the AFC West title and Super Bowl XXXVII in 2002 to become just the fourth rookie head coach to lead his team to the Super Bowl. He led Oakland to an 11-5 regular-season record in his first year and went 4-12 in 2003, when the Raiders were hit hard by injuries.

With their Super Bowl appearance in 2002, the Raiders set an NFL record by appearing in Super Bowls in four different decades. In the process, Callahan became the third first-year Raiders head coach to lead the team to an AFC West title and into the conference championship game, joining Art Shell (1990) and John Madden (1969).

Callahan's rookie season as head coach confirmed his leadership qualities and coaching ability and highlighted the diversity of the West Coast offensive system Callahan teaches. For the first time in franchise history, the Raiders led the NFL in passing in 2002 (279.7 ypg), and also led the league in total offense (398.8 ypg) for just the second time. Callahan was recognized for his role in the success, as he was named the NFL Coach of the Year by the Touchdown Club of Columbus and the NFL Rookie Coach of the Year by Football Digest.

Under Callahan, the Raiders operated out of the West Coast Offense and exploited opposing defenses with a multiple attack. In fact, in a three-season span, Callahan's Oakland offense went from leading the NFL in rushing (2000) to placing first in the league in passing (2002). In 2002, the Raiders became the first team to win games in the same season while rushing at least 60 times (60 attempts on Dec.

28 vs. Kansas City, 24-0) and passing at least 60 times (65 attempts on Sept. 15 at Pittsburgh, 30-17).

The Raiders capped the 2002 season with an impressive run through the AFC playoffs. Oakland opened the postseason with a 30-10 victory over the New York Jets and captured the AFC crown with a 41-24 win over the Tennessee Titans, before losing to Tampa Bay in Super Bowl XXXVII.

Callahan joined the Raider organization in 1998, when Jon Gruden took over as head coach. Callahan served as Oakland's offensive coordinator for each of Gruden's four seasons as head coach, also tutoring the Raider tight ends in 1998 and the offensive line from 1999 to 2001.

Under Callahan's tutelage, the Silver and Black allowed a team-record low 28 sacks in 2000, a mark that was surpassed in 2001 with just 27 sacks allowed. In addition, with Callahan coaching the offensive line, the Raiders led the NFL in rushing in 2000, averaging 154.4 yards per game. The Raiders won the AFC West title in each of Callahan's final two seasons as offensive coordinator and made it three straight division crowns in 2002.

Callahan's offensive players at Oakland made regular Pro Bowl appearances. From 1999 to 2001, Raider offensive standouts made eight Pro Bowl appearances, while five Raiders, including four offensive standouts, were named to the Pro Bowl in Callahan's first season as head coach. Oakland quarterback Rich Gannon made four straight trips to Hawaii from 1999 to 2002. He was twice named the MVP of the Pro Bowl (2000, 2001) and also earned 2002 NFL regular-season MVP honors.

Prior to his six-year stint with the Raiders, Callahan was an assistant coach with the Philadelphia Eagles for Head Coach Ray Rhodes. With Philadelphia, Callahan worked alongside Gruden, who was the Eagles' offensive coordinator. In his first two years with Philadelphia, the Eagles ranked second in the NFC in rushing and made the playoffs both seasons. During that time, current Husker Irving Fryar made two Pro Bowl appearances.

Bill Callahan guided the Oakland Raiders to the 2002 AFC Championship and a berth in Super Bowl XXXVII against Tampa Bay. Callahan has extensive experience at the collegiate level serving as an assistant coach at four schools, including Illinois and Wisconsin in the Big Ten.

Callahan Takes Charge of Husker Program

Bill Callahan has assembled an experienced and accomplished staff at Nebraska, including offensive coordinator Jay Norvell (left) and defensive coordinator Kevin Cosgrove (right). Callahan, Norvell and Cosgrove worked together on the Wisconsin coaching staff in the early 1990s.

Although he has spent almost a decade in the National Football League, Callahan is no stranger to the college game. He spent 15 years in the college ranks from 1980 to 1994, including 12 seasons in the Big Ten Conference, at two strong academic institutions. He was regarded as one of the game's best offensive line mentors and developed a reputation as one of college football's top recruiters. Callahan was not only ranked as one of the top 10 recruiters in the country by Tom Lemming in 1992, he was listed as one of the top 10 recruiters of all-time by Lemming in 2001, based on Lemming's recruiting ratings over the past 20 years.

Callahan began his collegiate career as a graduate assistant at Illinois under Head Coach Mike White, who later coached the Raiders. Callahan was promoted to a full-time position in 1981, coaching the tight ends, and stayed at Illinois through the 1986 season, coaching the offensive line, quarterbacks and special teams. While Callahan was on staff at Illinois, the Illini participated in three bowl games, including a trip to the Rose Bowl following the 1983 season, when they won the Big Ten title with a perfect 9-0 conference record. Illinois finished fourth or better in the Big Ten in five of Callahan's six years as a full-time assistant.

After seven years at Illinois, Callahan coached the offensive line at Northern Arizona (1987, 1988) and served as offensive coordinator at Southern Illinois in 1989.

He moved to a second Big Ten school, joining former Husker Barry Alvarez (1965 to 1967) at Wisconsin in 1990 to coach the offensive line. Seven Badger offensive linemen earned All-Big Ten honors under Callahan, including center Cory Raymer, who was a consensus All-American in 1994.

The 1993 Wisconsin team captured the school's first conference title in 31 years, defeated UCLA in the Rose Bowl and finished sixth in the final Associated Press Poll. In Callahan's final year in Madison, the Badgers finished 8-3-1 and defeated Duke in the Hall of Fame Bowl, marking the first time in more than a decade UW played in bowls in consecutive years. The Wisconsin staff Callahan served on also included Nebraska's new offensive and defensive coordinators, Jay Norvell and Kevin Cosgrove.

Callahan grew up on the south side of Chicago playing quarterback as a prepster at Mendel Catholic High School. He was a three-year starter at quarterback at NAIA Illinois Benedictine (now Benedictine University in Lisle, Ill.) from 1975 to 1977, earning honorable-mention All-America honors his last two seasons. He earned his bachelor of arts degree from Illinois Benedictine College in 1978, majoring in physical education.

He and his wife Valerie have four children, Brian (19), Daniel (18), Cathryn (12) and Jaclyn (11). Brian is a junior-to-be at UCLA, where he serves as a backup quarterback.
